

For Love of the Game

From
Racquel Bridgewater
Circulated via the Internet

As Many of you who have ever coached a youth team or who have young children at home waiting to be molded, a very gratifying job when you sit back and think of not only the technical skills we can pass on, but perhaps, more important, the sportsmanship and strong moral base that we can provide our kids.

The attached picture says it all, a young man who has obviously been given a deep love of the beautiful game, a love that should last a lifetime....

